

Winter 2010-11 Season That Was: Part 14: Team of the Year

Friday, 06 May 2011 10:04 administrator

This is the 14th part of the Season that Was---Team of the Year

TEAM

Hopkins put on a convincing march through AAAA in the state tournament. The capstone to their season was their third win over conference rival Eden Prairie 67-45. The Royals put notice on the state to their intentions when they snapped defending AAAA champ Lakeville North's win streak in December at the Breakdown event 83-64. Hopkins had depth that most teams envied. You could cut the Royals down the middle and they would have two top 10 teams. Get used to this. Hopkins will be a factor out to 2018 at least, maybe longer.

For the Year Hopkins was 30-2 and averaged 72.2 ppg, gave up 43.8 for a margin of 28.1 ppg, the best of any team. In the pp100 listing was 12 points over the average on offense and 13 points under on defense

PAST KJASR TEAMS OF THE YEAR

2007 St. Paul Central

2008 Ada-Borup

2009 Caledonia

2010 Lakeville North

Taken from KJASR.COM